Curriculum-Based Career Readiness Plan

Robert Zullo, Seton Hill University

Teaching & Learning Fair - Career Preparedness/Internships                        Friday, June 2, 2017
(Other)                                                                       10:15 AM
Teaching & Learning Fair Presentation                                         Room: Sopris
Abstract 2017-141

This sport management program demonstrates a career readiness program strategically built into the curriculum. Sharing assignments in eight core courses the program fosters professional growth and preparation. This is especially vital to students who are at-risk or first generation that may not otherwise voluntarily utilize resources in the career center.