Creating the Perfect Retail Space

Heidi Parker, University of Southern Maine

After reading Why We Buy (Underhill, 2008), students were tasked with applying concepts from the book to create the perfect retail space in two sporting contexts—a sporting goods store and a team shop in an arena/stadium. Students worked in groups and had to present justification for all design choices.